

Consider the main character. How is their identity revealed through the course of the story?

- Who are they?
- What makes them who they are (influences that shape them)?
- How do other characters see them?
- Who do they hope to become?